Dear David,

Re: ResultzCorp Pty Ltd 2-Day Conference

I'd like to thank you for improving the way I communicate with my clients - both existing and new. After attending your conference, I have experienced outstanding results in building rapport with potential new clients which has ultimately led to me creating more sales.

Even after the first day of the conference, I adjusted the way I listened and communicated and I was blown away with the response I received from new prospects. I particularly appreciate the body-language-reading skills as I am able to now discover what people are thinking without them even speaking!

The communication skills I have learned have already improved my life. Not only has this improved my relationships with clients, it has also been of great benefit to my relationships with friends and family.

The techniques I have learned in regards to client presentations have given me the edge I need to show clients just how beneficial our services can be for them. Previously, getting across that message was not so straightforward.

I will be recommending the conference to my friends and other business owners, as the sales results are immediate, and the content of the conference is life changing.

Yours faithfully,

Craig Garritty
