Dear David

David was referred to me by an employee in the office to speak at our national sales conference on motivation and sale strategies.

I met with David and asked if he could put together a specialised presentation with some interactive workshops which he agreed to do.

I thought his presentation on the day and his interaction with the group was excellent and the material he covered was perfectly directed towards the outcomes we needed to achieve.

The feedback received from the group has been very positive and all agreed that they picked up new skills and reaffirmed old skills that they may not have been focusing on.

We have spent money on strategic planning and sales conferences in the past but with David I know we received better interaction and better learning outcomes at a fraction of the cost.

I would recommend David and Result z Corp to any one putting together Conferences of a similar nature

Regards
